

C12 Act One Chair

Like all the Trannon range, stimulating design is born of fresh, practical thinking.

Designed in 2002, this chair is for working in. The seat and back are mounted on ash springs. The seat pivots forward with your body weight to provide a negative seat angle, also not having the conventional 5 star base allows your feet to go well below the seat. This is advantageous when sitting forward and provides excellent manoeuvrability. The back in combination with the rest of the frame yields to your body movements, encouraging dynamic posture.

The reaction from its users who are accustomed to all singing all dancing task chairs is relief at its simplicity, compactness, good looks and the range of postures it supports.

C12 is as suited to the board room and meeting room as to a personal desk. Wherever minds are active.
